“Having Troy Burgher, as an instructor, made learning about Microsoft applications both easy and fun.”

“He took the time out to answer any of our questions.” He would go over each lesson multiple times to make sure we all understood the ins and outs of every function within the program itself. He made himself readily available to us after class, and even on weekends if we necessary. I would definitely take another class if Mr. Burgher were to teach it. I had fun and I learned so much in such a short amount of time.”

“It was reassuring to know that a trainer like you shared my vision and interest for computers, while being patient and understanding as I dealt with my fears and insecurities. Having little work experience, as I was a student at the time, you were able to make me realize the skills and knowledge I had obtained and found myself omitting from my personal resume.”
